

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

There is provided an interferometer for measuring a surface shape of an optical element using 5 interference, including a reference wave-front generating unit for generating a reference wave front for measuring the surface shape, which is provided in a target optical path, and includes an Alvarez lens.